

Contacts:

Al Palombo
Metropolitan Health Networks, Inc.
SVP Corporate Communications
(561) 805-8511
apalombo@metcare.com

METROPOLITAN HEALTH NETWORKS SUPPORTS OUR NAVAL AND FLORIDA HERITAGE

Company Celebrates Naval Aviation History with Sponsorship of Centennial of Naval Aviation Gala & Auction

BOCA RATON, FL, – Metropolitan Health Networks, Inc. (“Metropolitan” or “MetCare”) (NYSE AMEX: MDF), a leading provider of health care services in Florida, today announced that the company has partnered with the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation in Pensacola, Florida, through a 2011 Corporate Alliance sponsorship.

As the National Naval Aviation Museum celebrates 100 years of Naval Aviation, Metropolitan Health Networks is proud to take a role in this year’s Centennial of Naval Aviation Gala and Auction on November 9 at the National Naval Aviation Museum in Pensacola, Florida. With nearly 10,000 members worldwide, many of them retired Floridian based veterans, The Naval Aviation Museum Foundation, Inc. raises funds that support the development of the Museum and its educational programs.

Michael Earley, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Metropolitan Health Networks, Inc., stated, “It is a pleasure for me to lend our company’s support in educating all Americans about our nation’s naval heritage through our sponsorship of the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation located on the Naval Air Station in Pensacola. Often referred to as the Cradle of Naval Aviation, the Pensacola base is best known as the initial primary training base for all Navy, Marine and Coast Guard aviators, the advanced training base for most Naval Flight Officers, and as the home base for the United States Navy Flight Demonstration Squadron, the precision-flying team known as the Blue Angels.”

“Over the years thousands of dedicated men and woman have received their flight and naval training at NAS Pensacola, including my father, Capt. Walter M. Earley, Jr. in 1947, and many retired naval veterans continue to reside in the Florida Panhandle area. Through our new network of health care providers in Escambia and Santa Rosa counties, it is a privilege and an honor for us to be part of this community. Our team of dedicated primary care physicians are looking forward to providing expert care to those who have served in all branches of our military and to the Pensacola community at large.”

About Metropolitan Health Networks, Inc.:

Metropolitan is a growing health care company that provides and coordinates comprehensive health care services for Medicare Advantage, Medicaid, and other customers in Florida through its primary care-centric businesses, MetCare of Florida, Inc. and Continucare Corporation. Metropolitan currently owns and operates 33 medical centers and contracts with more than 250 primary care practices. To learn more about Metropolitan Health Networks, Inc. please visit its website at www.metcare.com